

WORLD CANNOT DISARM, U.S. SAYS

Two Tomatoes Fired At Dewey In Illinois Town

Republican Nominee Splattered; Police Blame Youngsters

ENROUTE WITH DEWEY TO EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., Oct. 12 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey was splattered by a ripe tomato hurled at him as he spoke from the rear platform of his campaign train to-night in Mt. Vernon, Ill.

Two tomatoes were tossed at the Republican presidential candidate. One hit Life's magazine photographer, Francis Miller. The other hit the rail of the platform and splattered the Governor.

Dewey ignored the incident. It happened right after he was introduced to a police estimated crowd of 10,000.

Mrs. Dewey was standing at the GOP candidate's side when the tomatoes came flying at the car. Mayor Harry Bishop, of Mt. Vernon, standing on the platform, also was splattered.

It was the first time during the campaign that Dewey was the target of any missiles.

Youngsters Are Blamed

Dewey's aides and local police said they believed the tomatoes were thrown by youngsters.

Earlier Dewey called for election of a President who will work for peace "without undercutting" this country's officials representatives.

He told a police-estimated train-side crowd of 5,000 persons in Owensboro, Ky., his "greatest objective" was to back up our (United Nations) representatives abroad and not cut the ground out from under them.

Barnstorming across Kentucky and Southern Illinois, the Republican presidential nominee made this obvious reference to President Truman's temporary plan to send Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow.

"These are too serious times to tangle with incompetence and bluntness in positions of high importance," he said.

"Your sons and mine have a right to know they have a government that not only wants peace but knows how to work for peace, a President who will consistently day in and day out support the people who are working for peace as our official representatives without undercutting them."

A Good Cheer Candidate

That was at Lexington, Ky., where a crowd estimated at 4,000 persons by Police Chief Dudley McEley cheered the GOP candidate.

(In the official transcript later handed to reporters, the words "undercutting them" was omitted. Asked why, James C. Hagerty, Dewey's press secretary, said it was dropped by mistake and that it was being restored to the text.)

In Louisville, Ky., Dewey again concentrated on foreign affairs and jabbed again at the Democrats.

He said bi-partisan co-operation in foreign policy has operated "whenever the (Truman) administration has permitted it," and added:

"Even with the rich benefits of our bi-partisan foreign policy, we have not seen the gains the American people had a right to hope for."

"In part, this has been due to the clumsiness, the weakness and the wobbling of the Truman administration. In part, it has been (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1.)

Hopes For Early End To Recording Ban Fade

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Hopes for an early end to the recording ban faded today as James C. Petrillo and industry officials broke off negotiations started a week ago.

A joint statement by the American Federation of Musicians president and record company representatives said "no further meetings have been scheduled."

Thus the ban on new recordings by members of the AFL-musicians union that began December 31 will continue.

Neither side would disclose details of the discussions or the points of disagreement.

Vishinsky Lashes His U.N. Opponents With Scarcasm

PARIS, Oct. 12 (AP)—Andre Vishinsky, veteran Soviet prosecutor of traitors and Trotskyists, smiled and lashed his United Nations opponents with sarcasm in the arms debate of the Political Committee today.

Warren Austin, of the United States, was his main target.

"You should no more home work before you argue Marxism and Leninism with me," Vishinsky said at one point, leaning across Sir Hartley Shawcross, of Britain, and pouring out a stream of rapid-fire Russian a foot from Austin's ear.

"Your advanced primitive conceptions are a lot less all right," Vishinsky said at another point when he was contending that British and American leaders prefer Generalissimo Franco, of Spain, and Premier Salazar, of Portugal, to Lenin and Stalin.

Austin sat with lips pursed, never turning his head.

Shawcross, between them, hunched over the table taking notes. Once when Shawcross looked up, Vishinsky inquired: "Do I disturb you, Sir Hartley?"

Vishinsky then was saying 79 per cent of this year's United States budget was devoted to costs arising from the war or rearmament.

Near the end of his speech he said the New York law firm of Sullivan and Cromwell "played a big role" in rebuilding of German industry between the two world wars.

"That is the law firm of John Foster Dulles, member of the delegation to the United Nations," he commented.

He drew his biggest laugh when he declared Russia's plan for a one-third disarmament by the five big powers did not mean little Luxembourg also would have to disarm.

"When your school opens we will ask you to the blackboard," he said.

Air Force Plans To "Winterize" Berlin Airlift

Hundreds Will Get Special Training

BERLIN, Oct. 12 (AP)—The United States Air Force announced plans today to "winterize" the Berlin airlift.

Several hundreds of reserve officers who volunteer will be given special training at Great Falls, Mont., in visual and instrument flying and assigned to the airlift, the announcement said.

A further announcement said Douglas Globemaster transports will be put into a regular shuttle service over the Atlantic carrying special high priority cargo from Westover base, in Massachusetts, to Frankfurt to the airlift. The service will speed up the movement of critical supplies.

Radar Landings Planned

Maj. Gen. William H. Tunner, commander of the United States airlift task force who flew troops and supplies over the "hump" from Burma to China, declared the airlift not only can continue through the winter but can even expand its operations over the summer.

Through radar, the radio eye, the Army has perfected a system of "ground controlled approach" (GCA) which can bring a plane to a safe landing even when the pilot cannot see the ground. Watching a radar screen showing the plane, a ground pilot in the control tower can "talk" a plane down until its wheels hit the ground.

Air officers say GCA can land a plane every 3.5 minutes in Berlin.

Special de-icing equipment is being installed on airlift planes.

Can Fly 80 Per Cent Of Time

The Army estimates from a study of weather records that airlift planes would be grounded only 20 per cent of the time in the worst weather Germany has to offer.

With these preparations being made the Army figures it can fly in enough planes when the weather permits to make up for lost time.

To make the most of good flying time, the airlift is being converted completely to four-engine C-54 Skymasters which carry 10 tons.

The two-engine C-47 Dakotas which carry three tons are being retired.

American officials are confident they and the British can hit a daily average of 6,000 tons a day even in winter.

Dennis Conviction Upheld

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The United States Court of Appeals upheld today the conviction of Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist Party, for contempt of Congress. The charge arose from his failure to answer a subpoena by the House Un-American Activities Committee.

MSI Leader Georgio Almirante interrupted him, shouting "Assassins."

Some Communist deputies left their seats and attacked the MSI deputies on the opposite side of the chamber. The session was suspended for half an hour.

Togliatti then resumed.

Van Wagoner Says Blockade Has Backfired

DETROIT, Oct. 12 (AP)—Murray D. Van Wagoner, military governor of Bavaria, declared today that Americans "on the front line" in Germany have given Communism "the greatest licking of its life."

In an address before a Knights of Columbus anniversary banquet here, the former governor of Michigan said Russia's failure to blockade Berlin has been the western democracies' "greatest triumph."

"They (the Russians) thought the blockade would be the end of us," Van Wagoner said. "But the American and British answer was the airlift. That has been a great prestige builder for us. Russian propaganda has backfired."

Declaring that war is imminent, Van Wagoner said:

"Russia doesn't want a hot war . . . just a cold war which we are recognizing for exactly what it is."

U. S. Gets Blame For Peru Revolt

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 12 (AP)—The newspaper La Epoca whose editor, Eduardo Colon, is a member of the Argentine United Nations delegation, accused the United States today of being responsible for the recent uprising in Peru.

Colon, a supporter in Congress of President Juan D. Peron, will leave for Paris tomorrow to join the Argentine delegation to the United Nations General Assembly.

A front-page story in his paper said the Peruvian government "in violation of the United Nations Charter" had ordered the abortive rebellion and logically asked the North American ambassador, Mr. Cooper, to leave the country as persona non grata, which he did.

The unsuccessful rebellion occurred October 3 at Callao, harbor for Lima. Peruvian Cooper, of Tennessee, in a letter dated April 3 and made public by the White House May 28, resigned as United States ambassador to Peru, effective July 15.

Cooper said in his letter he had expected to be away from home only one year when he took the Lima post, had held it for two years, and considered his work in Peru completed. The new ambassador, Harold H. Tittmann, Jr., of Missouri, arrived in Lima to take up his duties September 20.

Italian Communists Attack MSI Deputies

ROME, Oct. 12 (AP)—A fight broke out today in Italy's Chamber of Deputies among Communists and pro-Fascist Italian Social Movement (MSI) deputies.

The unsuccessful rebellion occurred October 3 at Callao, harbor for Lima. Peruvian Cooper, of Tennessee, in a letter dated April 3 and made public by the White House May 28, resigned as United States ambassador to Peru, effective July 15.

Truman Offers Farm Program

Criticizes Opponent, Says GOP Abandons Lincoln Principles

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 12 (AP)—President Truman offered tonight a "sane" national farm program for a campaign in which he said the GOP candidate is backed by Wall Street and aligned with "some queer characters."

Mr. Truman said Gov. Thomas E. Dewey—he didn't use the name—was "trying to get the people to re-elect every reactionary member of the 80th Congress."

Here in an armory near the spot where Abraham Lincoln is buried, Mr. Truman said he wondered what the first Republican President would say if he could see how far his party "has departed from the fundamental principles in which he so deeply believed."

For the farmers, the present President proposed permanent, flexible price supports, more soil conservation, adequate consumption of farm products, and development in farm areas of co-operatives, rural power, housing, roads, schools.

Proposals Called "Essential"

These were things he had urged before. "Tonight he said they are 'essential' to the welfare of agriculture and the nation, that there is 'one sane national policy for agriculture, and that is a policy of organized, sustained and realistic abundance.'"

There was a murmur, then a roar of applause and laughter when Mr. Truman said his Republican rival was lined up with "queer characters." Packed into the auditorium seating 5,400 was a crowd estimated by Police Lieutenant George Ford at 6,000.

Ford figured another 25,000 were packed three and four deep along the route of a torchlight parade through the city.

Mr. Truman said that when the farmer votes for the Republican Party, that "proposes to smash the strength of labor," he is not voting just for a cut in the wages of city workers but for "cut in his own income." He went on:

"He is voting to reduce his own prices."

"He is voting to have the Republican Party do a repeat performance of the agricultural depression 1920s."

As for himself, the President said: "I believe that the farmer and the industrial worker, the miner and the businessman, will prosper together or fall together. I reject the reactionary idea that there are second class citizens who were meant to be nothing but hewers of wood and drawers of water."

"I maintain that every man, woman and child in the United States is entitled to a decent living and to equal justice in a free land. To that end we of the Democratic Party pledge our strength and our courage."

"We shall never rest until, by God's grace, we have attained that goal."

Power Rationing Starts In France

PARIS, Oct. 12 (AP)—Dawn-to-dusk power cuts were put into effect throughout France today, and the Cominform was charged with financing as well as inspiring the strike wave which has kept coal mines idle nine days.

The conservative newspaper France Soir said it had learned from government sources that the Communist Information Bureau, with headquarters in Romania, already has spent 120,000,000 francs ($400,000) to keep the strike going.

Interior Minister Jules Moch told a meeting of the Socialist Party last night the Cominform had ordered the current strikes with the aim of wrecking the European recovery program.

To save the dwindling stocks of coal, the government put into effect today electricity power cuts throughout the nation. Power was cut off from many homes from early morning until dusk. The cuts are to apply two days a week, but priority users such as hospitals and newspapers were not affected.

There was no violence and there were no negotiations in progress to end the strike which has cost the nation more than 1,000,000 tons of fuel.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 12 (AP)—Penicillin is being given to 90-year-old King Gustaf V of Sweden who is ill with an infection resembling influenza, his physician said today.

Lane Will Make Decision On Special Session Today

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 12 (AP)—Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., will decide tomorrow whether to call a special session of the General Assembly to change election laws to allow the States' Rights Democratic Party a space on the November ballot.

The Governor said he will confer with Attorney General Hall Hammond before making his final decision.

States' Rights appealed to the Governor to call the Legislature into session after the Maryland Court of Appeals ruled that present election laws bar the listing of their candidates—Gov. Strom Thurmond and his running mate, Gov. Fielding Wright.

The law specifies that nominating petitions must be filed before primary elections. The States' Rights Democratic Party was not formed until after the Maryland primary.

It has been customary in the past to issue special session calls at least 10 days in advance of the convening date.

The Governor indicated that one of the main questions he will discuss with Hammond is whether that custom is backed by or has the force of law.

"The state constitution states merely that 'The Governor shall convene the Legislature, or the Senate alone, on extraordinary occasions' x x x."

Some state elections officials have said that if it is necessary to wait 10 more days before printing ballots for the November 2 election, it may cause much difficulty.

Gen. Eisenhower Installed As 13th Columbia Prexy

Calls For Defense Of Human Freedom

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today was installed with academic ritual as Columbia University's 13th president.

Presented with the charters and keys of the university as symbols of his authority, the wartime Supreme Allied Commander was charged at the ceremony with providing "leadership for our staff and students in the pursuit of education and the advancement of knowledge."

Eisenhower was an erect, smiling figure as he marched with academic notables from all over the world in a procession which began the colorful ceremony.

In his installation address which climaxed the program, he warned that "today's challenge to freedom is not only a challenge to the individual but a challenge to the whole of our society."

"For human freedom is today threatened by regimented statism. The threat is infinitely more than that involved in opposing ideologies."

"Men of widely divergent views in our own country live in peace together because they share certain common aspirations which are more important to them than their differences."

"But democracy and the police state have no common purpose. In today's struggle, no freeman, no free institution can be neutral."

20,000 Hear Address

"All must be joined in a common profession—that of democratic citizenship. Every institution within our national structure must contribute to the advancement of this profession."

About 20,000 persons heard the speech. Delegates from 310 American colleges and universities, 36 foreign institutions, 34 learned societies and presidents of 223 colleges were included.

Eisenhower's predecessor was the late Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler.

A soldier all his life until he retired from the Army early this year, Eisenhower has charge of about 30,000 students at his university, one of America's top-ranking institutions.

Reuther Shooting Suspect Held Under $75,000 Bond

DETROIT, Oct. 12 (AP)—Carl Bolton's examination on a charge of trying to kill Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers, today was set for October 19.

The 39-year-old Bolton, a former minor official in the big 1,000,000-member union, was held under $75,000 bond.

He stood mute before Judge Christopher E. Stein, who sent him to prison once before at the age of 19 for armed robbery. The court entered a plea of innocent for him.

Bolton, if convicted, would face a maximum sentence of life imprisonment.

Railroads Formally Ask Freight Rate Increase

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—The railroads today formally asked for a 13 per cent increase in freight rates, and petitioned for authority to make a portion of the advance effective at once.

The actions were taken before the Interstate Commerce Commission, where the rail carriers already had pending an October 1 petition for an eight per cent hike in hauling charges.

Russians Make It Impossible, Austin Charges

Vishinsky Offers To Put Cards On Table On Arms Reduction

PARIS, Oct. 12 (AP)—The United States declared today disarmament is impossible in a world where the Soviet battle cry is "wreck and destroy."

The United States already has disarmed too far and too fast after the last war, said Warren R. Austin, the No. 2 delegate to the United Nations General Assembly.

In a gloves-off speech to the Assembly's Political Committee Austin said the United States will support a British resolution pinning blame for lack of control on world armaments on Russia and a Syrian proposal that the United Nations Commission for Conventional Arms get back on the job.

Russia's Andrei Vishinsky countered with an apparently conciliatory move. He offered to put the Soviet cards on arms reduction on the table—if the United Nations adopts the Russian proposal for an immediate one-third cut in armaments of the five major powers.

Big 3 Work On Resolution

Other major developments in the United Nations Assembly halls as American policy stiffened toward the Russians were:

1. The United States, Britain and France worked on details of a resolution calling on the Security Council to act in the Berlin dispute. The Americans were reported impatient at this delay on this hot question.

2. The United States, France, Britain and China teamed with four other countries in an atomic subcommittee in endorsing a demand that the Assembly approve the majority reports on world atomic control. Russia fought the move all the way.

Austin told the Political Committee that the nations of the world could not disarm or even slash armaments while the Russians refused to co-operate. He said that under present conditions of world fear and insecurity it will be impossible to set up effective systems of control and reduction of arms.

He said the Communist slogan changed overnight from "work and production" in the first postwar days to "wreck and destroy." He said Russia through world Communism is working to maintain a "state of constant turmoil and economic chaos."

Asks "Are We Dreaming?"

"Are we dreaming?" Austin demanded of the committee. "Can such tactics, such actions, such a record be those of one of the founders of the United Nations?" He added:

"I call upon the Soviet Union to give us some probative evidence of its sincerity and desire to co-operate with us openly to give life and meaning to the purpose and principle of the United Nations Charter to which we all subscribed."

With his voice shaking with anger at times, Austin charged that the Russians harped on the horrors of atomic warfare but disregarded "just plain sense."

Ex-President Hoover Wins Americas Award

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Herbert Hoover said tonight "we need no Marshall Plan" for the American countries but "we need methods to release the capital energies of the peoples."

"Our job in Europe is mostly that of saving drowning concerns," he said in a speech prepared for delivery at a dinner of the American Foundation marking the discovery of the Americas. The foundation promotes exchange scholarships between North and South America.

He received the Americas award at the dinner for his "contributions to hemispheric amity and understanding."

Bulgarian Diplomat Flees To U. S.; Says He's Not Red

FLEES TO U. S.—Dimitri Karaghiosov, Bulgarian diplomat, said yesterday he fled from Turkey to the United States to avoid recall to his homeland. (AP Wirephoto)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—A young Bulgarian diplomat said today he fled from Turkey to the United States to avoid recall to his homeland where "things would be positively not so pleasant."

Dimitri Karaghiosov, 38-year-old Bulgarian consul general in Ankara, was met at the dock in Baltimore by United States Army Intelligence officers who drove him here.

Although Army officials registered him at a hotel as "in charge of the Pentagon," Karaghiosov told newsmen who discovered his presence that he had not talked to any United States government authorities.

The suave, six-foot Bulgarian said "I merely came here to rest and relax and to see many friends."

Speaking perfect English, he scoffed at newspaper reports from Ankara that he was believed to have carried secret files and codes.

"I am not a Communist and so I resigned," he explained. "I am just a small government official who did what he thought was right."

Karaghiosov landed in Baltimore four days ago aboard the Turkish ship "Kastamonu" after disappearing from his post in Ankara.

New Maryland Manual Is Ready

BALTIMORE, Oct. 12 (AP)—Distribution of the new and completely revised edition of the Maryland Manual—handbook of the state government—will get underway tomorrow.

The new manual, first to be issued under Gov. Lane's administration, contains 471 pages of information about the state government and its subdivisions, extensive historical data and a revised index to the Maryland Constitution.

It was compiled and edited by Dr. Morris Radoff, state archivist, and his staff.

The new manual corrects historical errors that had run through many former editions of the handbook.

Clothbound copies of the manual carry the great seal of Maryland on the front. Paperbound copies have a cover reproduction of Hans Schuler's statue of freedom of conscience, which was erected at St. Mary's during the state's tercentenary observance.

The edition has for the first time a large chart of the organization of the state government, a map showing boundaries of the congressional districts, another outlining the judicial circuits, and a third showing the appellate judicial districts. There is a map indicating the location of state institutions.

Other additional information appearing in a manual for the first time includes lists of daily and weekly newspapers, radio stations and mayors of towns and cities.

The State Department would not comment. The Bulgarian Legation and the Turkish Embassy said they knew nothing about the incident.

Largest Lutheran Group Votes In Favor Of Merger

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12 (AP)—The largest Lutheran group in this country—the United Lutheran Church in America—voted unanimously today in favor of a future merger with other American Lutheran church bodies.

The ULCA's 576 delegates to the 16th biennial convention authorized a special commission of the church to meet with similar commissions of other branches to confer and negotiate organic union.

The proposed merger is with all the participating bodies of the National Lutheran Council, co-operative agency for two-thirds of American Lutheranism.

socialist officialdom, has not yet fallen into disrepute," he said. "For the time being only atomic warfare is to be dreaded and avoided at all costs. Indeed, war itself is still a recognized means of achieving a Communist world society."

He referred to a "vast Communist literature" which he said revealed much of Russia's intentions. He added:

"We hope it is not true that the Soviet Union believes and acts on the premise that a conflict between Russia and the Western World is inevitable, and we hope that Mr. Vishinsky can assure us that such is not the case."

No Mist Russia Has A Bomb
Of recent events in Eastern Europe, he said:

"It is really necessary to go into details regarding the domination of Romania, Poland, Hungary, Albania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia? Recent events, in truly impressive details, have disclosed that the price of Soviet friendship is complete subservience to Soviet policy."

Vishinsky said "we are yearning to co-operate," but that Russia could not do so if one side was "bolstered" by the atomic bomb.

"You have the atomic bomb, that little bomb," said Vishinsky. "That is not a pound of raisins. Your dear hope is that nobody else has it." He did not again hint, as he did a few days ago, that Russia has the atom bomb.

The Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister complained bitterly that in the eyes of the West "whatever we do is wrong," and the West "showers blame on us."

If the United Nations adopts the Soviet proposal for arms reduction, he added, Russia "simultaneously will submit information on its arms and armed forces."

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12 (AP)—Mrs. Constance Veronica Keane blamed Hollywood today for her estrangement from her daughter, Actress Veronica Lake.

Mrs. Keane filed suit against the actress yesterday, asking $500 monthly support pending determination of her claims for $17,416 she asserts is due her under a 1943 support agreement. She contended Miss Lake earns $4,500 weekly.

The actress left home in 1943 and never returned, Mrs. Keane said today. "She fell under the influence of Hollywood and the people in it."

San Francisco Demos Endorse Dewey-Warren

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12 (AP)—The San Francisco Democratic Club, which calls itself the oldest incorporated Democratic organization in California, today endorsed the Dewey-Warren ticket.

Worthington said the vote of directors was: Dewey-Warren 25; Truman-Barkley 3; abstaining 3; absent 9.

42 Held For Smuggling Jamaicans Into U. S.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 12 (AP)—Forty-two persons have been taken into custody in a drive against the smuggling of Jamaican negroes into this country through the use of false birth certificates, the Immigration Service announced today.

Walter S. Miller, district director of immigration, said the Jamaicans were charged as high as $350 each for the certificates.

The certificates were obtained in South Carolina where only two witnesses are needed in obtaining delayed birth papers, Miller said.

The arrests included 30 persons held in New York and 12 in Florida.

Negro Oyster Shucker Held In Double Slaying

FERNDALE, Md., Oct. 12 (AP)—A negro oyster shucker from Baltimore was brought into Anne Arundel County police headquarters today for questioning in Glen Burnie's double slaying case.

Officers declined to explain why they picked up the 51-year-old employee at a Baltimore oyster packing plant. He still had unshucked oysters in his pockets when he was brought into the station.

John H. Mahlan, 25-year-old worker in the Glen Burnie post office, and 18-year-old Mary C. Kline went out on a weekly date the night of September 17. Mahlan's car was found abandoned the next morning but the bodies were not found for three days. The couple had been shot through the head.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

by Billy Rose

Let me tell you a fascinating story about—you guessed it—myself.

One evening 15 years ago, I had an appointment to see a Hollywood producer at his home. For two hours, he kept me waiting in his outer hall, and when he finally showed up, he didn't even invite me to ease my ego and posterior in his living room.

Right then, there and away, I resolved to repay this unkindness in kind, and sure enough, 10 years later I got my chance. The night the revival of "Show Boat" opened at my theatre, the mao-goo merchant phoned to ask if I could help him get a pair of good seats. I told him care of him, and I did—row Y, right next to the fire buckets.

Next day I wrote him a mock apology and invited him to dine at my home, figuring I'd let him take a good look at my outer hall. But the wounded producer wrote back that he had already sampled my hospitality and wanted no more of it.

And so I did what I always do when I'm stymied—I went to the 42nd Street Library. Somewhere in its 3,500,000 volumes, I felt sure I would find the proper come-uppance and go-downance for the man who had once pushed me around.

The first volume I opened was an anthology of the famous snubs of history—how Diogenes had given the bird to Alexander the Great, and the business of Napoleon's conquering an Italian province because one of its dukes had called him a shrimp. But none of these case histories seemed to fit mine until I came to the story of Jimmy Hirst, the Yorkshire tanner who had devoted 24 years of his life to getting hunk with a British peer who had refused to dine with him. This record of revenge gave me a lot of ideas, but before I tell you about them, perhaps I ought to tell you a little something about Jimmy Hirst.

Early in the 19th Century, Jimmy sold the prosperous tannery he owned in Yorkshire, bought himself an estate, laid in a stock of vintage wines, and then invited the most exalted gent in the neighborhood, Lord Fitzwilliams, to have dinner with him.

When His Lordship didn't show up, the tanner went calling to find out what was the matter. But he couldn't even get past the moat of Fitzwilliams' castle.

Jimmy brooded about this snub, and then mapped out a campaign to get even.

For openers, he figured out a stunt to take the spotlight away from the nobleman. Fitzwilliams was in the habit of driving to nearby Doncaster in a carriage covered with gold leaf, and when the townspeople gathered to gawk, he loved to nod patronizingly and bask in the warmth of their wonder.

"The way to put His Lordship in his place," said Jimmy, "is to give the oafs something really worth ogling." And so he designed an Oriental palanquin (enclosed conveyance borne on the shoulders of men by poles—Webster), encrusted it with semi-precious stones, and hired four husky Yorkshiremen to carry it while he lolled in its silken interior. And from then on, whenever Jimmy appeared in town, Fitzwilliams got no more attention than an unbattered scone.

But this was fun and games compared to what the tanner did to His Lordship's favorite pastime—fox-hunting. At the big annual hunt, Jimmy showed up on the back of a bull, and instead of bounds, he brought along a passel of pigs. "Foxes escape in holes in the ground," he explained to the landed gentry, "and my pigs will root them out."

The following year at the Doncaster races, Jimmy further poked fun at the prissy peer by showing up in a riding habit covered with feathers plucked from drakes' necks, and when he bet, he refused to pay the bookies in English money on the grounds that the faces of the kings on the currency were ugly and reminded him of Lord Fitzwilliams. He designed his own pound notes with buxom wenches cavorting on them, and the bookmakers readily accepted them because they were in great demand as souvenirs.

For the next 20 years, the story of this toy feud was lip-and-eared all over England, and every music hall presented at least one comic sketch burlesquing Fitzwilliams and his set. By the time he was 90, Jimmy Hirst was Empire-famous, and the nobleman who had snubbed him had become a symbol of stuffiness from Lands End to the Firth of Forth.

Hirst's revenge, however, was still incomplete—His Lordship had never been to his home. But the tanner took care of this by dying, for among the thousands who showed up at the final rites was Fitzwilliams himself.

"This time I couldn't stay away," the much battered nobleman growled. "I had to make sure the audacious scoundrel was really dead."

After I finished reading about Jimmy, I went home and figured out a sure-fire plot to make the Hollywood producer accept my invitation. But there's one thing that stops me from going ahead with it, and that's the footnote to the story of Hirst's revenge. It seems that several commoners got to talk to Fitzwilliams at the funeral, and they all agreed that the beefeater was a bore.

My problem is this. Once you've bounded a Hollywood producer into coming to your house, you've then got a Hollywood producer in your house. And unless you're trying to rob him, what point is there in that?

Labor Leaders Would Deny Beall Re-Election

A group comprised of labor leaders in Allegany county, with a non-resident laborite as advisor, has been organized with one purpose in mind—to bring about the defeat of Rep. J. Glenn Beall and to replace him with F. Byrne Austin, from away down in Montgomery county. The line of campaign will be to try to convince members of labor unions of the need they find (for their personal salvation) of having the Taft-Hartley labor law repealed.

Up to now, they have been finding it mighty tough going to convince the rank and file that the law is as bad as they contend, and they are having a tougher time in convincing members of organized labor that it would be to their advantage to turn out Rep. Beall for a man who is more or less a stranger, and who, it is argued, would never display the same interest for the people of this section of the Sixth District as does Mr. Beall.

It is almost impossible to get even a leader of labor, let alone a member of any of their organizations to say that Rep. Beall has not fulfilled his congressional duties with integrity, courage and faithfulness. But, for selfish purposes, these labor bosses seem ready to go to any length to regain the whiplash they were able to exercise over their organizations before the Taft-Hartley bill came into being.

Many Democratic campaign speeches are giving the Taft-Hartley Act high priority in the hope that they might influence the unsuspecting union man into voting a mandate for repeal of the law and thereby surrender the privileges he now enjoys under it. They will fall in this if members of organized labor weigh arguments against the law in the light of what the measure provides for their individual and collective interests.

The law is not perfect. Changes have been contemplated since shortly after the Act became effective more than fifteen months ago. Governor Dewey recognizes this and has declared "It can always be improved and wherever and whenever it needs change it will be changed." Proposed amendments have already been outlined by Rep. Halleck, co-author of the Act. He favors making it unnecessary for unions to conduct elections for union shops, broadening of the clause requiring labor leaders to sign affidavits that they are not Communists to make it applicable to employers as well. He suggests that this portion of the law should be strengthened to further protect American labor against the cunning maneuvers of Communists to create havoc and strikes.

It is the purpose of Governor Dewey, as President, to make the present law more advantageous to labor and give workers greater voice within their organizations; to encourage unions to grow in responsibility and strengthen the processes of collective bargaining. The Taft-Hartley law, which Mr. Dewey defends as being of great benefit to workers, is the foundation upon which he will proceed to keep labor strong.

It should be pointed out that the magazine, Factory Management and Maintenance, conducted a survey recently which showed a general acceptance of and even satisfaction with the Act among factory employees. Seven out of 10 of those workers sampled in the poll said they thought themselves as well off or better off under the Taft-Hartley bill than before it was passed. They realize that the present labor statute will go far toward correcting the abuses about which they are concerned. In short, they have already reaped unrecognized benefits from the law their leaders are blowing their tops over.

Rep. Beall should find no reason for apologies in having supported the Taft-Hartley measure. He did so at a time when the country was being paralyzed by strikes, and when provisions of the Wagner Act were being abused to the detriment of every worker. Unnecessary strikes were called then. Since the Taft-Hartley law came into being the number has been reduced one-half to make possible uninterrupted incomes for every family of every laboring man.

It is difficult to believe that anyone would entertain a thought of chastising at the ballot box a man who has helped to make possible the recapture by the laboring man of rights and privileges which the Taft-Hartley law meant he should have.

News Spotlight Focused On Spain From Many Directions

From several directions the news spotlight has lately been focused on Spain. After interviewing Premier Franco, Senator Chan Gurney, chairman of the powerful Senate Armed Forces committee, urged restoration of full diplomatic relations with Spain, and found his plea echoed from the other side of the political fence by James A. Farley.

The practical argument behind this proposal is that Spain has been a consistent foe of Russo-Communism and would be a valuable asset to the Western Democracies in the event of an East-West war. Should the Red Army march westward through disrupted Germany and weakened France, an Allied defense line behind the Pyrenees might be imperative.

There are, of course, weighty obstacles to bringing Spain into the Western Union alliance. The official view of London, Paris and Washington is that, while France shied away from an alliance with Hitler and Mussolini in World War II, he played one side against the other until near the end of the conflict. Spain has been barred from UN membership, and in 1946 the General Assembly urged the withdrawal of diplomatic missions from Madrid.

Britain's Labor government bitterly opposes an alliance with Franco Spain, while the present French cabinet would not dare antagonize the Socialists by dealing with Madrid. London's attitude was evident in the Foreign Office announcement that republican and monarchist foes of Franco have at last reached an agreement and await only Western approval to form a government-in-exile.

That story has been denied in Madrid and by monarchist leader Gil Robles. But it has weakened some hopes in Washington that Franco might voluntarily step down and permit the election of a representative government.

"El Caudillo" is standing his ground, from which, it appears, he could be dislodged only by another civil war, encouraged from beyond the Spanish border. Hardly anything would delight Stalin and the Politburo more than that.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Let The Hunter Beware!

The hunting season is here and millions of men and women are preparing to match wits against deer, pheasants, ducks, and other types of game. A terrible slaughter can be anticipated, but it is not entirely one-sided because all too often the hunter meets the same fate as the animal or bird he pursues.

Dr. Van Dellen probably the most hazardous and every year we read of hundreds being shot accidentally or dying on the field from heart attacks. Even the life of the most seasoned hunter is endangered because he never knows what the other fellow is going to do. Much of this stems from the fact that the average person is careless when handling a gun. He may be familiar with all the rules and regulations but some time during the day he neglects to remove the shells from his gun when riding in the car, walking along the road, or crawling under a fence. Wearing a red coat and hat affords some protection to the sportsman in the field, but there are still too many hunters who will shoot at anything that moves, regardless of color.

The hunter has no control over being hit by a stray bullet but he can take it easy or stay at home if his physical condition does not warrant overexertion. In some states deaths due to heart disease outnumber the accidental killings. Most of the victims are middle-aged men who lead a sedentary existence for 51 weeks and then relax their body with seven days of sudden strain. Most of these individuals would not walk a block in the city but think nothing of going ten miles while stalking through thick underbrush. The same man refuses to carry a sack of potatoes or shovel snow in front of his home. Yet without thinking he will drag a 200 pound deer for a half mile or more to the road.

But this is not all. Hunting is exciting and most men are not aware that under this type of strain and suspense, the heart rate is increased. It pumps as hard as it does while engaged in a big business deal and continues at this pace day after day until the hunt is over. We do not wish to imply that hunting should be outlawed; we merely wish to stress the importance of taking it easy or getting into condition before the season starts.

Do not disregard such symptoms as breathlessness, dizziness, chest pain, and irregularity of the heart beat. The same can be said if vague digestive disturbances appear or the ankles begin to swell. These are warning signals one to slow down or quit entirely. Furthermore, it is not advisable to add insult to injury by proceeding when utterly exhausted. The average hunter is in no physical condition to do this and when it is continued, something is likely to snap. We no longer need to hunt to live and ventures such as these should be relaxing and enjoyed as a sport but not become too greedy and defeat the purpose of this wonderful pastime.

YOUNG MOVIE FAN

Mrs. M. T. writes: Is it injurious to the eyes of a child to sit through a movie twice a week in the first row?

Reply: Unless a visual disturbance already exists, sitting so near is adding a temporary burden to the eyes. Probably the reason he sits in front is that he cannot see from farther back.

MUST BE A MUSCLE

F. B. writes: What causes a muscular spasm in the sacroiliac and how can it be checked?

Reply: The sacroiliac is a joint and spasm would have to originate from the surrounding muscles. Some victims are helped by avoiding strain or wearing a belt or a brace for support.

LUMP ON WRIST

G. R. writes: I have a growth on top of my wrist. Do you have any idea what this is?

Reply: This is probably a ganglion. Occasionally it disappears spontaneously but surgery is required in the majority.

A BEAUTY DESCRIPTION

S. B. writes: Are peaches and cream really good for the skin?

Reply: The expression "peaches and cream complexion" is merely descriptive of a certain color and texture—without the fuzz, of course.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

We have recently concluded an argument with Stalin to run American pictures in Russia.

When Eric Johnston asked what pictures they wanted, Stalin said: "Let's start with the newsreels on the atom bomb."

Johnston's audience with Stalin lasted fifteen minutes. . . . in ten minutes longer than mine usually lasts.

They cut a checker came out of one of our pictures. . . . They said the idea of anyone jumping a red man was bad for morale and for the way they've criticized some of our pictures.

I certainly was surprised to find out that Mickey Mouse was a tool of Wall Street and Popeye was a capitalistic swine.

SOMETHING THE RUSSIAN DICTATORS SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Sen. Ferguson Loses Reputation As Great Prosecutor; Expected Probe of Preston Tucker Never Came Off; Tight-Fisted Banks May Lose GI Loans

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—When Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan first came to Washington, he was widely acclaimed as the great prosecutor. This reputation now is sadly tarnished.

For though Homer heads one of the most important investigating sub-committees of the Senate, it begins to look as if he runs in the opposite direction when either he or his friends get their toes slightly stepped on.

After Senator Thomas of Oklahoma wrote Ferguson a letter threatening to expose certain extracurricular activities, Ferguson promptly dropped the Thomas probe. Ferguson, of course, denies this, says he still is investigating. And here is something else he will doubtless deny, too:

In the spring of 1947, the Senator from Michigan had a young army of sleuths digging into the Preston Tucker automobile scandal. Word from the Ferguson committee was that sensational developments were just around the corner. A big story would develop.

But it never did. Ferguson dropped the whole thing. His sleuths closed up the Tucker books and went on to other things. It was quite mysterious.

Big G.O.P. Politician

No adequate explanation ever was given, but here are some interesting facts which took place in May and June 1947 just as Ferguson dropped the Tucker probe.

At about this time, Mrs. Dudley C. Hay, popular, efficient ex-Republican national committee woman from Michigan, and her husband were paid $17,850 by the auto man being probed by Ferguson—namely Preston Tucker.

Mrs. Hay has been a friend of Ferguson's. She was at that time not only G.O.P. committeewoman, but secretary of the Republican National Committee, and had long been influential in Michigan politics.

There was nothing illegal about Mrs. Hay and her husband receiving this money, since they are not government officials—though it is highly interesting.

The first money they received was $7,000 in cash. Tucker's paymaster, explaining the payment, said that Tucker had come to him late one evening for some cash which he said he needed to pay some politicians to stop the Senate investigation of the Tucker plant.

Mrs. Hay made five trips to Washington during May and June 1947, just at the time Senator Ferguson seemed about to begin public hearings of the Tucker corporation.

Records of the Stalter hotel show that she registered there from May 9 to 11, and on May 10 called Ferguson's secret phone number, Ordway 3085. Not many people had this private number.

Mrs. Hay came back to Washington, May 15-16, and again the hotel record shows she called the Capitol several times. She returned on May 31, remaining until June 5, and on June 1 called Ferguson's secret number twice.

On June 11, Mrs. Hay came back again, remaining until June 13 during which time the hotel records show that twice she called Ferguson's private number. Tucker was in Washington at the same identical time.

Several Tucker employees state that at about this time he told them he had employed a political figure in Michigan to call off the Ferguson committee and that "it was the best money he ever spent."

Whether or not Mr. and Mrs. Hay were employed by Tucker to do this job, the fact is that the Ferguson probe of Tucker suddenly stopped.

and Exchange Commission and the Justice Department also were investigating Tucker and they reported that Ferguson's agents were so busy at the Tucker plant it looked as if the Senate probe would get started long before the government could finish its work.

That was one year and a half ago. Meanwhile the Ferguson probe never has come off. The Justice Department is shortly calling a grand jury in Chicago to get to the bottom of Mr. Tucker's unusual activities—but, for reasons best known to the Senator from Michigan, he changed his mind about this scandal which already has cost the investigating public around $200,000.

Banks Shun G. I. Loans Unless banks start loosening up on home loans to veterans, Congress may take these loans away from private enterprise and put the government in the direct loan business.

This was threatened the other day in a blunt, but unofficial, warning to the financial trade by Wisconsin's G.O.P. Senator Joe McCarthy, vice chairman of the joint congressional housing committee.

But even as McCarthy took his stand, the Federal Reserve System was sending out notices to member banks to cut down on home loans as a deflationary measure. This will virtually put an end to G. I. loans, since banks have been turning down most veterans anyway for loans with higher interest rates.

In many cases, this has been a deliberate squeeze play to force up the interest rate on G. I. loans. An increase from 4 to 6 per cent is permitted by law, provided it is approved by the Secretary of the Treasury and the Veterans Administration or Federal Housing Administration—whichever agency guarantees the loans. This new provision in the law was inserted this year by Congress to encourage banks to make G. I. loans. It has had the opposite effect.

A spot survey right in the nation's capital revealed that 23 out of 25 Washington banks refused even to consider an application for a G. I. loan. The situation is growing steadily worse.

Note—One thing Senator McCarthy overlooks is that the 80th Congress deliberately knocked out the provision passed by the Democrats whereby the RFC guarantees G. I. loans 100 per cent. Immediately this guarantee was removed, banks started vetoing veterans' loans.

Merry-Go-Round

The Army caste system is so strict at Camp Kilmer that privates can't receive incoming long-distance calls. Col. Harold B. Duffie, the commanding officer, flatly denied this to the Army, but forgot to tip off his telephone operators. They still give the same stock answer to anyone calling privates—which is to write a letter, send a telegram or, in case of an emergency, get in touch with the Red Cross—anything but talk to him. . . . Residing in Publicity Disgrace, the inside asking for a $5,000-a-year raise, but the White House won't grant it. Real truth is the White House would like to get rid of Redding. . . . The Labor committee for Truman and Barkley has offered $2,000 in prices to unions that bring out the most voters to the polls November 2.

Government Would Be Russian Form If We Ever Go Communist

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

If we ever go Communist, our government would pattern after Russia. How does the government of the world's second power resemble or differ from our own?

The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (U.S.S.R.) is a federation of 16 constituent Republics, and various provinces and districts. On the surface, they bear some resemblance to our states and territories. The Republics, however, are only administrative divisions of the centralized federal government. None has an independent budget or system of taxation. Everything is run from Moscow.

From this, you can understand why American Communists want to wipe out all "State rights" in this country so they can run everything from Washington as a branch of the super-government at Moscow. They want to gather all power into one basket.

Top of Structure

At the top of the structure is the Supreme Soviet. The word "soviet" means council. You might call it a congress. It has two branches; the Union Soviet, based on population, something like our House of Representatives, and the Council of Nationalities, which is something like our Senate. The two bodies are elected by secret ballot, with universal suffrage. Meeting in joint session, the Supreme Soviet elects the Presidium, the Ministers, and the members of the Supreme Court.

The Presidium is a body of 42 members which exercises legislative power when the Supreme Soviet is not in session, which is only a few days a year. So much for the legislative branch.

The Council of Ministers, or Cabinet, has 57 members. Stalin is its chairman. It is the highest executive organ of government, but it is also a legislative body as its decrees have the force of law.

Elections are supposed to be held every four years, but the government can suspend them, as was done from 1937 to 1946—a period of nine years.

On the surface, this structure seems to resemble our own. But it is largely a facade. The inside government behind the outside government is the party, as much so as a big city boss in America who tells the mayor and city council what to do.

The constitution makes sure that there is only one list of candidates for all public offices. That is the Communist ticket. The only choice in the selection of the candidates, as in our party caucus or primary. After the candidates are selected, the voters have no alternative. That is why elections are "won" by majorities of 99 per cent.

Ten Decide All Questions

At the head of the party is the Political Bureau (Politburo) consisting of ten men. This decides all questions of policy and, therefore, runs Russia. Then there is the organization Bureau of the party (Orgburo) with 15 members who decide on governmental personnel. Then there is the Central Control Commission which keeps party membership in line, and purges those who don't go along. Blind obedience must be given to the "party line," i. e., the policy determined at the top. It is really a civilian organization operated on military principles and penalties.

This tightly knit group of not over 30 men rules 180,000,000 people. The thirty are dominated by

Maybe Fresh Start Under New Administration May Get Peace

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—Some day, when the smoke of political battle has cleared away, historians will view the events of these times with more objectivity than seems possible at this moment. They will accord then a generous measure of praise to George Marshall for his valiant efforts to perform overwhelming duties for his government in the post-war era, long after he had earned the right to rest and retirement from the job he did in commanding the biggest military organization the world has ever known.

Secretary Marshall is unused to the ways of politics. When a President of the United States requested him to go to China as his envoy, he accepted this difficult post and quietly strove for a year to find a way to solve the baffling and complex situation in the Far East. When the President asked him to become secretary of state, he again accepted the call of duty—this time to a post even more confusing and exacting, because he was never trained in the school of diplomacy or in the legislative methods of intergovernmental communication.

At the outset, the Secretary of State made it clear that he couldn't be drafted for political office and has maintained correctly the bipartisan tradition of his immediate predecessors. To him the Department of State was like the Army—a nonpolitical division of government.

Beast By Politics

Yet Mr. Marshall has since been beset on all sides by politics. The question of aid to China became political, as did the matter of recognizing Israel and composing the Palestine war. Mr. Marshall, with a tact and courtesy that he learned to give superior officers in the army, gave to the President the obedience to instructions which the Chief Executive asked for or implied in the making of policies.

History will review Mr. Marshall's handling of the delicate question of relations with Russia with perhaps a less critical approach than would have been visited upon any other military man. For George Marshall has an engaging personality and a sincerity that produces profound respect for his views. Yet there is no doubt that much difference of opinion prevails here as to the wisdom of the policies he has followed. There has, for instance, been a fear that he oversimplified the Russian policy of negotiation as meaning that no formula for co-operation would be feasible and that hence none need be tried. The doctrine that Russia could not be trusted and hence that negotiation was futile has led to a blind alley in the diplomacy of the western powers. It is not a novel development. Time and again in world history, nevertheless, governments have found it necessary and desirable to make efforts to negotiate and prevent war even at the cost of time and patience.

Fresh Start May Be Needed

The announcement just made from Paris that there cannot be a simultaneous lifting of the Berlin blockade and a meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers but that, instead, there must be a lifting of the blockade first illustrates the kind of entangling pride factors which can be introduced by governments sometimes when there is a basic distrust on both sides.

Even the solution of the over-all German problem is frustrated at present because of a fear that Russia might get control of Germany, though the tactical approach in the negotiations should be to discuss anything and everything to the point of demanding safeguards for the future independence of Germany. Once negotiations are begun, proposals can be made to limit the activity of any foreign power seeking to interfere with German autonomy by infiltration or otherwise. It is far better to manifest a willingness to negotiate all these points than to place the western powers in the position of refusing to come to an agreement because they believe Russia will not keep it. Such an attitude can mean that only war or a surrender by Russia of what she deems to be her co-equal rights in Europe can end the deadlock. This is not realistic diplomacy in an atomic age.

Secretary Marshall is respected by the British and French governments and wields today an enormous influence. But back home the political pot is boiling. There are large groups of people who say little but who feel that there can be a peaceful way out of the difficulties that have arisen in Berlin and that maybe a fresh start under a new administration may bring about that result.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Supreme Court

AMONG American officials, only the judges of the federal courts are chosen for life. Even limitations set during the New Deal concerning old age and disabilities in no manner affect the intent of the authors of our political system that judges should be aloof from the fortunes of politics or the pressures of the moment.

This must be particularly true of justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, whose judgments possess a quality of finality upon which the life, happiness and property of each individual in the country are dependent.

The Court possesses no power to enforce its dicta. Andrew Jackson once challenged the capacity, the ability of the Supreme Court to enforce its decisions. The decisions of the Court are enforced by general acceptance. No one questions the authority of the Court; no other court, federal or state, sets itself above the Supreme Court because it possesses neither an army nor a police force to insist upon its authority.

The justices of the Supreme Court must therefore be respected above all other men. Respectably, since the days of John Marshall, the respect for the Chief Justice of the United States has grown among the American people.

President Roosevelt sent Justice Owen J. Roberts to investigate the Federal Reserve failure. That was an unfortunate appointment because Mr. Roberts, a man of the highest probity, was immediately involved in a controversy as to whether he deceived the American people in favor of Roosevelt.

That controversy has continued to this day, in spite of the fact that Mr. Roberts has resigned from the Court and now heads the law school of the University of Pennsylvania. Also, Justice Robert Jackson was appointed to manage the Nuremberg trials. That too led to serious controversy. It was an unfortunate appointment, because Mr. Jackson is one of the better justices of the Supreme Court.

Now arises the question of President Truman involving Chief Justice Vinson in a political mission to Stalin to deal with the Berlin situation. The conduct of Foreign Affairs is the function of the Secretary of State. The Chief Justice of the United States has nothing to do with it. Apart from that, the Berlin situation is one of great controversy. It has already been submitted to the United Nations after prolonged negotiations among four powers which ended in failure.

There is no reason for assuming that Chief Justice Vinson has the preparation, the experience, the training or knowledge to justify the belief that he can deal with the Berlin problem more competently than anyone who has up to now, been dealing with it. Certainly, he is not more prepared for the task than General Lucius Clay or Dr. Philip Jessup. He does not speak Russian; Stalin speaks no English. He is an authority neither on Russian nor German affairs.

One man, Stalin is Secretary-General, or boss, of the party, a member of the Politburo, the Orgburo, chairman of the Council of Ministers and Supreme Commander of the armed forces. The party is constantly combed over. "Yes-men" are kept, and "No-men" are dropped or shot. Total party membership is around 4,000,000, or something like two or three per cent of the population. This is called the "dictatorship of the proletariat." It is a dictatorship over the proletariat.

The only object for sending the Chief Justice of the United States to Stalin could be that the President cannot go himself and has lost confidence in George Marshall, the Secretary of State. But the only reason that the President can have for wanting to see Stalin or to send a special representative to him—such an important one—either to issue an ultimatum or to appease Stalin. In a word, the purpose can only be to bring the situation to a head before Election Day, at no matter what cost.

The Berlin negotiations were undoubtedly important in the President's campaign calculations. They were to produce some kind of climax. On the other hand, suppose that Mr. Vinson's participation in this highly difficult and touchy question led to national disaster—what would that do to the Supreme Court of the United States? How low would the Court sink in public estimation? It is the Supreme Court, not Mr. Truman's personal fortunes, that matters.

For some reason, Mr. Truman does not grasp the essentials of our form of government. Just as he denounces Congress until his words have ceased to be political but have become an attack on the institution of Congress, so his relations with the Supreme Court fail to maintain the aloofness, the non-political character of that institution.

It is a pity that Chief Justice Vinson permitted his name to be mentioned in this connection. . . .

The Pageant of Autumn

I am privileged to live in a northern clime where the four seasons celebrate, each in its accorded manner. I love them all, but into the Autumn seems to have culminated the glory of the two preceding—Spring and Summer. There is a crispness to the air, and it stimulates one's entire physical make-up.

The last of the harvest, for the tiller of the soil, is over. Our beloved songsters are on the wing to their warmer homes. All outdoors takes upon itself a tapestry of color that could well be called a prayer to the soul. The delicate coloring of every leaf is unique. And as it changes from day to day, shedding its life, its magic beauty is emphasized. Then, with its last breath, it falls noiselessly, to hover with its companions on the earth, to sleep its Winter away, but later to enrich the substance of the earth for future Autumns.

In the very air there is the substance of life moving about. The flower has wilted, but its impregnated life floats upon the waves of the air, hunting a silent spot to await another Springtime. Motion is more evident than at any other season of the year. The change—the Pageant of Autumn is on!

The squirrels, at the end of August, are no longer so evident, if they have been your pets, for they must store up and into them they must store sufficiently to enable them to live out the cold Winter months. These Autumn days are their working days. So are they the working days of all nature's creatures, for they have learned to look ahead.

The very hills cool, there is a withering of grass, and a fading out of the day, in earlier fashion. The Autumn has its own peculiar sounds, as well. Like the softer melody of the orchestra. A farewell to the joys and activities of the Summer months. There is a new glow to the logs in the open fire. There is a deliciousness to the smell of the earth, for it has been productive. October and November became a dual doxology!

Group To Aid DPs Is Organized

A committee recently appointed by Gov. Lane to administer the program for the settlement of displaced persons in the county was organized at a meeting Monday in the office of Patrick J. Carroll, manager of the Maryland Unemployment Security office here.

The DPs being allowed to enter the United States are being allotted to the various counties as farm laborers, but the local committee said that so far no farmers of Allegany county have evinced interest in obtaining DPs for their farms. County farmers who desire to make application for DPs are required to contact the committee. Certain requirements must be met before a DP is assigned to a farm. The information is sent to Dr. Ward Gallan, executive director of the Ukrainian-American Relief Society, who in turn arranges with the government for the allotting of displaced persons to the various states.

Western Maryland Income Increases

Net income of the Western Maryland Railway for the first nine months of 1948 is expected to reach $4,700,000 after taxes and charges, tentative figures indicate. For the similar period of last year, the company reported a net of $3,697,538 or $20.84 a share on its seven per cent cumulative first preferred stock, which is in arrears as to dividends.

The company benefited during September from a good movement of steel, ore and coal, along with higher freight rates.

Net income for last month is figured at around $640,000, as against $380,880 reported for September, 1947.

Just Between Us Going Steady Means Just That; No Halfway Measure

By NANCY MOTTRAM

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I've been going with a boy about three months, and everything has been fine. Just lately though, something has come up that we seem to quarrel about every time we go out. He wants to go steady, and I can't see it. Although most all my dates have been with him, there have been times when another boy has asked me to parties, and I went with him. But this fellow I've been dating thinks we should go out only with each other. What do you think about this? Are there any real advantages to the 'steady' arrangement?"

(A) This is one of those questions all of us have to face, and it's a question of what you really want for yourself in the way of dating. There are advantages to the "steady" twosome. You can usually be sure you won't be left home on Saturday night, and after a while the rest of the crowd will invite the two of you as a regular couple. If you have mutual interests, you'll find more and more things to do together. On the other hand, don't forget that there's always a chance you or he will see someone you like better. And if he strays to another gal, it'll take you longer to get back into circulation, because "steady" means just one lad in your life.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: The boy I've been keeping company with lately has a particular buddy, and he and his girl usually double date with us. Lately, I've been more and more interested in the other boy. I think from the way he acts that he'd like to ask me for a date, but he hasn't said anything about it, for fear he'll make his friend mad."

But if he does ask me, what should I do?

(A) Wait and see what happens. If you and the other boy do go out, that date might be the beginning of a real friendship. On the other hand, you don't want to be in the position of coming between two friends if you can help it. Let him straighten it out with his friend, because it's up to him to make the first move.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: During the summer, I dated almost every night. Now that school has opened again, my mother thinks I should limit dates to weekends. I think it's unfair. What do you think?"

(A) Dates are an important part of your life, but school is important, too. Vacation is over — now you'll have marks and studies to think about. And you've got to find a balance between homework on school nights and parties on weekends.

If you have a problem at school or at home, write Miss Mottram for her help.

If Stomach Gas or Sour Food Taste Robs You of Sleep

Here's How You May Help, Whether You Eat 500 Pounds or 2000 Pounds of Food In a Year

You can't feel cheerful, be happy and sleep well, if your stomach is always upset. As age advances the "old stomach" needs more help. The reason is this: Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains very special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia — so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with over-doses of acids and other alkalis to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Cumberland To Observe Halloween November 1

Halloween will be officially observed in Cumberland on Monday, November 1.

Street Commissioner Edgar Reynolds, who has received permission from the Mayor and City Council to block off Baltimore, Holland and George streets for the observance, announced tentative program plans yesterday.

Foremost, Reynolds said, will be the opportunity for children and others to display costumes. A parade is planned and Commissioner Reynolds believes at least four bands will participate. Thomas F. Conlon will serve as parade marshal, he said.

Reynolds stated that prizes will be awarded for costumes.

Reynolds said he made the proposal to block off streets Monday with a two-fold purpose in mind. He said children would be afforded the opportunity of having fun and at the same time, the threat of vandalism would be decreased.

There is a possibility, Reynolds added, that final arrangements will provide for two programs, one at Baltimore and George streets for the western, eastern and southern sections of the city, and the other on Holland Street for the large North End residential area.

Goals Determined For Chest Groups

The Classified Section of the Cumberland Community Chest campaign analyzed and determined goals of individual employee groups at a meeting last night at 7:30 at Central YMCA. It was announced by James W. Bishop, chairman.

The committee suggested that a goal be set for every group of persons employed by Cumberland area firms and industries, based on the wage scale of the employees. Bishop explained. In this way local citizens are protected against contributing more than a normal percentage and yet an adequate amount is secured.

This year five hours pay from each employed person has been set as a standard to reach the Classified Section goal of $26,510. Bishop pointed out that although the goal has been raised $2,000 over last year, the giving standard has been increased. It has been anticipated that a large number of employees will contribute this year, thus enabling the committee to reach its objective.

Members of the automotive section include W. Louis Spoerl, Julius Hast, Guy L. Virts, James M. Raupach, Presley Dicken, Fred W. Jenkins and Albert Carlson. Financial group leaders include John H. Mosner, Chester L. Coughenour, Elmer I. Pearson, John F. Workmeister, John Park and Henry K. Duke. The professional group leaders are Harold E. Naughton, Benjamin W. Wright, Mrs. Claudine Graham, Rev. W. R. Keefe, Jr., David Moreland, Fred W. Mills, Jr. and Mrs. Harry C. Deal. On the governmental committee are Wallace G. Ullery, William A. Wilson, Edward V. Welsh and William McDermott.

General group members include Major E. W. Wall, T. F. Conlon, Sr., Charles L. George, James E. Reinhardt, Harry H. Robinson, Donald U. Moffett and Robert Collins. Public Service workers will be contacted by John L. Towler. The Utility section will consist of George E. Williams, Leroy Durst and John C. Fisher. Solicitors of Manufacturers will include Edward P. Mullen, Lloyd Stallings, John Weber, E. G. Lytle and A. E. Johnson. Working with the Railroad group will be Roy W. Eves and Clarence E. Gehr.

The Foods group of the Classified committee will have seven workers: Leonard E. Adams, Winfield H. Adams, Glenn K. Davis, John Liebaugh, Jack Moore and John A. Kreiling. The Mercantile group will be sponsored by Joseph K. Trenton, Norman Goldblatt, Julian Batlan, Frank Kaplan, Charles A. Spear, L. V. Shinnamon, N. J. Wilkinson, Harry N. Isles, Jr., Myron S. Landis and Ross O. Decker.

Workers on the Served Commodities group will include Mrs. Stanley Burke, Stanley Burke, Robert E. Robinette, W. L. Ridenour and Fred Avers. The Public Schools group will be solicited by Lewyn C. Davis.

The Army now employs a portable "electric weatherman," which automatically and continuously records wind directions and wind velocities in remote, unmanned weather stations.

Whitney Martin's
SPORTS
TRAIL

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—World series flashback. It's the little things you remember.

The pained, incredulous look on Sibi Sisti's face as he turned to head for the dugout after his pop-up bunt smothered all Boston's hopes in the ninth inning of the final game. Bob Feller leaving the mound without waiting for his relief after being kayaked in the fifth game. Eddie Sisk's giving his bat a backward spin and heading for first base after drawing a fourth ball. What they were saying about Larry Doby in Cleveland: "The best ball player in the game in another three years."

The single running up and down the spine as the band played the national anthem and more than 86,000 persons stood in respectful silence. The Harvard crew working out on the Charles River, unmindful of the drama being enacted within slingshot range. Bill Vecek, the Mr. Big of the Cleveland club, wandering about with fuzzy hair bared to the breeze, white shirt open at the collar and topped with a brown sports shirt. And looking for a place to sit down.

The backfiring of Billy Southworth's strategy in the fifth game. In the seventh inning he played for one run, and wound up with six. The fascination in watching Lou Boudreau play his shortstop position, with his catlike reflexes, and the marveling at his hands. They are small and delicate, more suited to a violinist than a baseball player.

The abrupt transformation of Bob Elliott from a hot candidate for the role of series goat to that of hero. The assorted baseball men hanging around looking for jobs—Jeff Harris, Leo Miller, Leslie O'Connor, et al. The habit of some Indians—Boudreau particularly—of putting the rear foot outside the batter's box. A string of really fine catches by Mervyn Haskett, the lad who got into the series on a hot note. Jeff Heath's leg. The patience of Johnny Sain, who never complains at an umpire's decision on balls and strikes. Just shakes his head a little sadly and goes about his business.

The unexplainable boos for Thurman Tucker after he had given it the old college try and tried to barge through Catcher Bill Skelton after being trapped between third and home in the final game. He was tagged smack in the face, his glasses smashed. The contortions of Cleveland first baseman, Ed Robison, whose ability to do a split meant the difference between safe and out on several occasions.

WES ABRAMS TAKES LEAD IN CITY GRID
SCORING PARADE

Wes Abrams, Allegheny High School's hard-plunging halfback, took over the lead in the city scoring parade by scoring two touchdowns in the football game with Hagerstown last Saturday for a total of 34 points.

The runner is Abrams' running mate Earl "Lefty" Bruce who has tallied 42 points for the undefeated and unscathed team. Bill Hudson, LaSalle halfback, who lead the point getters at the first release of figures, dropped to seventh place. Ed "Barney" Tucker, Port Hill's galloping fullback, jumped ahead third with a 21-point total.

Glen Burke, all-city Sentinel end, leads in extra points with 16 and has an overall total of 28 markers. The totals:

Irish Lose First Place In Football National Rating

North Carolina Takes Over Top Grid Spot

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—College football's "first ten" underwent a reshuffling today after one of its dizziest Saturdays, and the loud thump you heard was Notre Dame falling off the top rung.

The Irish, who had held the No. 1 position for almost a year, were dumped to second place by North Carolina, a Dixie institution where a lad named Charlie Justice gets his higher learning.

Other shakeups in the weekly Associated Press poll of the nation's sports writers were these: Southern Methodist University, an old tenant, and Minnesota were ousted from the selected bracket. Their places—though not exact positions—were taken over by Pennsylvania, the Ivy League champion, and Mississippi, defending titlist in the Southeastern conference.

North Carolina's Tar Heels received 52 first place votes from the 153 participating writers and amassed 1,200 points, the exact total with which Notre Dame led the last poll. Points are awarded on the basis of ten for a first place vote, nine for second and down the line.

Notre Dame, with 34 first place votes, was only 20 points behind with 1,180 followed by Northwestern with 1,172 and Michigan with 1,103. Northwestern and Michigan, two unbeaten powers of the Western Conference, collide Saturday in the week's feature game.

Other top ten teams in order are: Army, California, Georgia Tech, Pennsylvania, Penn State and Mississippi.

The Irish, unbeaten in 21 games, took over first place in the poll from Michigan on Oct. 27 last year and kept a grip on it throughout the season.

The total vote with points figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes in parentheses):

1. North Carolina (52)	1,200
2. Notre Dame (34)	1,180
3. Northwestern (31)	1,172
4. Michigan (24)	1,103
5. Army (8)	723
6. California (7)	720
7. Georgia Tech (7)	589
8. Pennsylvania (1)	328
9. Penn State (1)	328
10. Mississippi (1)	328

Baksi-Charles Go Slated For Dec. 10

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12 (AP)—The Joe Baksi-Ezzard Charles heavyweight elimination bout was scheduled today for Dec. 10 in New York's Madison Square Garden. The winner of the 15-round test may meet champion Joe Louis.

The champion, Baksi, Kulpmont, Pa. product, and Charles, dusky Cincinnati slugger, originally was slated for the Gardens Nov. 12. A postponement was granted because Baksi injured his right hand.

Sol Strauss, acting director of the 20th Century Sporting Club, Gardens manager, fixed the new date after a conference here today with the managers of Charles and Baksi. Manager Jake Mintz for Charles and Nate Wilson for Baksi agreed to post forfeits of $2,500 each against further postponements.

Sporting Club Has Official Shakeup

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (INS)—The high command of the 20th Century Sporting Club underwent a shake-up today and Harry Markson, the club's chief publicist for 11 years, was appointed managing director.

Markson, whose appointment was authorized by ailing boxing czar Mike Jacobs, succeeds Sol Strauss who had been acting director. Strauss will be retained as chief attorney and adviser to Markson.

The shakeup had been expected for several months because of consistently poor matches at Madison Square Garden. The issue came to a head recently when the rival promoting outfit, the Tournament of Champions, staged the Cerdan-Tony Zale middleweight title fight.

The 20th Century's rebuttal to this was a fistie doubleheader at Yankee Stadium two nights later which finished in the "red."

Louis To Tour County

BOSTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Heavyweight champion Joe Louis is going to barnstorm the country with exhibition bouts in a dozen big cities. Boston fight promoter Sam Silverman announced today.

Silverman said he had signed Louis to appear against Johnny Skhor, Boston heavyweight, in a four-round bout at the Boston Arena on Nov. 8—the first stop in the champion's tour.

Stan Heath Tops College Offenses

Gained 731 Yards For Nevada Team

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP)—Stan Heath, Nevada's spectacular star player, put on an amazing aerial display last Saturday to hold his place as the No. 1 offensive performer of college football.

The whip-armed war veteran connected with his target nine times in 13 throws to account for 114 yards as Nevada trimmed North Texas, 48-7.

Added to yardage collected in two previous Nevada victories, this gave young Heath the lead in both the forward passing and total offense departments.

The weekly statistics of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau show Heath with a total of 731 yards in 87 plays. Of this, a total of 725 yards has been gained by passing. Heath having completed 43 tosses in 82 attempts.

The rushing department, meanwhile, turned up with a new leader. Clyde Scott, University of Arkansas' Olympic star, ripped off 113 yards on the ground in his team's 23-7 loss to Baylor to become the leading ball-carrier in major college ranks.

Runner-up to Heath in overall yardage is Jim Walhall of West Virginia, who is credited with 628 yards. Lindy Berry, Texas Christian's work-horse, is third with 618 yards.

Berry has participated in the most plays—137. He has 81 tries in rushing alone.

Jack Jensen of California has the best average per try—10.8 yards every whack at the line. Wendt's average is close—10.2 yards.

Walhall is second to Heath in passing as well as total offense. West Virginia star has completed 42 of 77 passes for 633 yards.

He has thrown eight touchdown passes, sharing that remarkable score with Dick Gilman of Kansas, who is 20th in the aerial list.

Jim Powell of Tennessee is successful rushing leader with 18 successful snatches for 249 yards. He has caught two for touchdowns. Rudy Ruppe of Oregon State, last week's leader, dropped to second with 15 caught passes for 169 yards.

Stock Is Appointed New Dodger Coach

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (INS)—Burt Shotton, Brooklyn Dodger manager, today appointed Milton Stock, former Chicago Cubs scout-coach, to the Dodger 1949 coaching staff.

Stock succeeds Ray Blades, a Dodger coach last season, who has been assigned to Shotton's former post as scout on the lookout for promising ballplayers.

Shotton also announced that he has "re-engaged" coaches Jake Pitler and Clyde Sukeforth for the 1949 season.

Dancewicz Is Released

BOSTON, Oct. 12 (INS)—Frank "Boley" Dancewicz, of Lynn, former Notre Dame star, was released tonight by the Boston Yanks of the National Professional Football League.

Waivers were asked on the former Lynn classical schoolboy great last Friday, but none of the clubs in the league claimed him.

Dancewicz became the club's regular quarterback last year after Paul Governali was traded to the New York Giants. He failed to hold his job this year against Roy Zittmerman and Jim Youtel, and was used only sparingly by Coach Clipper Smith.

Miss Glick Wins

Miss Louise Glick won the ladies 22-inch 18-hole putting contest held yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club golf course.

League Will Hold Meeting Saturday

The Cumberland Dukes, local professional cage team, will blow the lid off its 1948-49 season Nov. 21 by entertaining the University of Duquesne five here, Bob Whip announced last night.

The Cumberland team, one of five holdovers from the All-American Basketball League, plans at least four exhibition games with strong college outfits before opening its league campaign here Dec. 4.

St. Bonaventure Listed

Included among the warm up opponents will be a newcomer to the tri-state area. Coach Stan Milkovich's St. Bonaventure College cagers will make a tour of this area and will play several of the All-American League clubs including the locals. The date set for the appearance of the strong New York team is Nov. 28.

Also appearing here will be St. Francis College of Loretta, Pa., on Nov. 25 and the world famous Harlem Globetrotters, well known negro ball club which has been here several times before. The Globetrotters are slated to come here Dec. 1.

Final plans for the rounding out of the pro cage loop and the decision on applications of three more entrants will be decided upon at a meeting of the league officials Saturday and Sunday at the William Penn Hotel, Whip stated.

At present the five holdover teams —Dayton (Ohio), Youngstown (Ohio), Wheeling (W. Va.), Altoona (Pa.), and Cumberland—plus three newcomers make up the eight club circuit. The new teams holding league franchises are Warren (Pa.), Warren (Ohio) and Butler (Pa.).

Three Clubs Want In

Three other clubs are seeking admittance to the circuit. These are Johnstown (Pa.), Clarksburg (W. Va.) and Beaver Falls (Pa.). If at least two of the teams request admittance at the meeting and are approved the loop will be divided into two sections—a Western and Eastern section—with five teams in each division.

The Butler franchise is owned by "Soupy" Campbell, a former Duquesne University player who appeared here many years ago with several top-notch traveling outfits when the Cumberland Caseys were in vogue.

The Warren (Ohio) team was an independent five last season and holds decision over several of the league teams including the runners-up Youngstown five.

Start Practice Soon

Whip said the locals will start practice either November 11 or 12 and a squad of about 20 players is expected to report.

The league is tentatively slated to open Dec. 4 but the Dukes' opponent for that date has not been decided yet as final schedule plans will be completed at the week-end meeting in Pittsburgh.

Softball Banquet Is Listed Tonight

The Rocking Chair Softball League's annual pig roast tonight will have Police Commissioner William V. Keegan as toastmaster tonight at 7 p. m. at the Loyal Order of Moose home.

President Arthur "Lob" Brant said that Manager Cecil Warrick of the Celanese team; Jim Brown, Knights of Columbus pilot, and Jim Morrison, Potomac Edison manager, have been named as a committee to distribute the money collected during the loop playoff for the injured players' fund.

Frank "Pop" Trozzo, business manager of the Moose team, is in charge of the dinner arrangements. The banquet will be served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Moose.

Members of the B.P.O. Elks team, 1948 champions, will be guests of honor at the affair.

Cheering Throng Welcomes Tribe

Thousands Witness Victorious Parade

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12 (INS)—The Cleveland Indians, baseball's world champions for 1948, came home today to a roaring welcome.

Hundreds of thousands lined Euclid Avenue, Cleveland's main thoroughfare, or three ticker tape confetti from office windows as the world series victors paraded from Union Terminal along a five mile route.

A squad of motorcycle police and a bandwagon headed the motorcade, followed by open cars that carried the individual Tribe heroes. Lou Boudreau, manager and ace shortstop of the Indians, was in the first car, accompanied by Club President Bill Vecek and Mayor Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland.

Gene Bearden, pitching hero of Cleveland American League triumph and world series victory, was in the second car with club Vice-President Hank Greenberg and other Indians officials.

Then came the rest of the Indians—all smiling and waving to the surging, cheering throngs. The motorcade finally broke up at University Circle on the city's far East Side, and the Indians—finally—got a chance to go home.

Albert already established one record last Sunday against the Baltimore Colts when he completed 13 out of 15 passes for a one-game completion mark of 86.7 percent.

The former Stanford quarterback also heads the list in passing and total offense yardage at a record-threatening pace. In seven games he has gained 1,400 yards, 1,219 on passes. He has completed 94 of 147 attempted aeriels for a 63.9 percent mark and has had only two intercepted. Sixteen of his passes have gone for touchdowns, putting him in position to smash another record if he keeps going the rest of the season.

Because of Albert's accurate hurling, Al Beals leads the league in pass received with 28 for 402 yards and six touchdowns. Beals now holds two conference records, having caught passes in 24 consecutive games and touchdown tosses in six straight.

A club, San Francisco also is going at a record-breaking pace. The 49ers already have scored 273 points in seven games as compared with Cleveland's 1948 record of 423 in 14 games. They top the list in virtually every offensive department, both in totals and averages, and can break most of the records.

Ted Horn's Good Luck Coins Failed

DU QUOIN, Ill., Oct. 12 (AP)—Ted Horn's good luck coins which he carried in hundreds of races failed him in his fatal run Sunday.

After the three-time national auto racing champion crashed, hospital attendants removed Horn's left shoe and his "lucky" dime dropped to the floor. Two pennies he carried in his right shoe were lost when that shoe was torn from his foot in the crash.

Comes From Auburn

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (AP)—Brooklyn Dodger football coach Carl Voyles, in his first year as a professional coach, came to the All-American Conference from Auburn where he coached from 1943. He previously served at William and Mary for four years. In his last year at W & M, his team lost only one game.

Albie Booth, Yale's great football star of the early thirties, is now the general manager of one of the nation's largest ice cream concerns.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Does believing yourself faultless mean you're insane?

Answer: Usually not, although this attitude can lead toward mental illness. What it does mean is that you have an exceptionally strong unconscious sense of guilt—probably over feelings you would not dare to admit you could have—and cannot admit one fault or weakness for fear that all your defenses would collapse. Just as the man who thinks he is Napoleon is “compensating” for a painful sense of insecurity, the person who won’t admit he could do wrong is shielding himself from realizing what would happen if he “let himself go.”

Should you wait for “just the right job?”

Answer: No. It’s as unwise to sit around until you find work that exactly suits you as it is to grab at any job that offers. Just as the young man who never can find quite the right girl is really unconsciously afraid to marry, so the fellow who can’t make up his mind what he wants to do is afraid, or unwilling, to face the responsibilities of life in the grown-up world. Knowing what you are best fitted for may be a real help, but you’ll no more find a job that is exactly what you want than you will a girl who was “made to order for you.”

Are neurotics over-sensitive to pain?

Answer: They are apt to be, report research psychologists of the University of Wisconsin. A group of neurotics and another of relatively normal people were subjected to a test in which heat rays were focussed on their hands and foreheads; and, while members of both groups said that they felt pain at about the same temperature, the neurotics showed more violent reactions to it. Over-sensitiveness to pain generally indicates emotional disturbance, although some types of neurotics can endure pain with unusual stoicism.

Telephone Group
Urges Formation
Of Co-OperativeCompany Would Serve
All Of Hardy County

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—The County-Wide Telephone Committee recommended the formation of a co-operative telephone company to serve all of Hardy County at a meeting in County Agent S. L. Dodd's office this week.

H. Gus Munzing, chairman of the committee, stated that the local co-operative would be incorporated for $100,000 or possibly $125,000.

A committee consisting of Senator R. J. Bean, Joe Dasher and Howard Hawkins, appointed at the previous meeting of the county-wide committee, reported 419 customers were ready to sign up with the proposed co-operative.

Surveys by engineers reveal that 147 miles of lines would be necessary to serve the communities now without telephone service. Of this total 33 miles, now served by mutual telephone companies, is already available for merging into the proposed co-operative. The survey showed that the materials for the new company would cost $87,000.

A protest to the proposed rate increase by the Central Telephone Company will be made in Romney, October 29 at a hearing before the West Virginia Public Service Commission.

The County-Wide Telephone Committee will join with the Moorefield Lions Club, the Wardensville Lions Club and the Petersburg Kiwanis Club and Farm Bureau in making protest on the basis that present service does not warrant an increase and that the telephone company refuses to expand service to take care of rural subscribers.

An offer to purchase the Central Telephone Company's lines in this section will be made in an effort to secure service for rural subscribers. A committee was appointed to get in touch with Washington to see if Federal funds are available for telephone cooperatives in this section.

Munzing pointed out that efforts to secure service for rural subscribers in Hardy County have met with little success despite attempts for the past 10 years.

It was only this spring that the Central Telephone Company refused to extend service to the Bean Settlement area, South Fork area and the Lost River section of the county.

The telephone committee has had several conferences with Bell Telephone system officials and representatives of subsidiary companies.

Officials expressed a willingness to serve all the rural areas in this section. However, they pointed out, they are not permitted to come into this section so long as the Central Telephone Company holds the Public Service Commission franchise to operate in Grant, Hardy and Hampshire counties.

Pendleton county, a large county with considerable mountainous areas, recently received modern and efficient county-wide phone service installed by the Bell system.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 12.—(INS)—Things are happening with amazing rapidity.

Lilli Palmer

a remake of "Stage Door," which he has just purchased from RKO.

The setting will be summer stock this time instead of Broadway. My friend Jesse will have to do some tall casting to rival the lineup in the original "Stage Door"—remember Katharine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers, Lucille Ball, Andrea Leeds and Eve Arden?

Everything is straightening out beautifully, too, with "Tribby." As I told you, Jack Warner has come to the rescue and loaned Jesse Jane Wyman for "Tribby." So now it will be Jane and James Mason—an interesting combination.

Lilli Palmer has decided to accept the femme lead in Jean Pierre Aumont's play, "The Emperor of China." That means she'll open on Broadway while her husband, Rex Harrison, is there.

That's going to be a disappointment to several producers who had some interesting assignments for Lilli. But all in all, she decided it was better to move her family to New York, so she'll rent an apartment there.

Twentieth has no assignment for Harrison. "Unfaithfully Yours" is his last picture at that studio.

Betty Hutton, happy to be home, and excited over her reception in London, stopped by to see me. She had just reported for "Broadway Story" at Paramount, which she is doing with John Farrow.

"When Ted and I were in the plane coming home from London," said Betty, "I had time to think. In this troubled world, I thought, I haven't the right to be so happy. I had such a big ovation in London, my career is very satisfactory, Ted is the most wonderful husband, and with my two beautiful children—what more could any woman ask? I prayed hard to keep all this."

Rice Democratic Candidate For Clerk Of Court

Heads Mineral Co. Red Cross Chapter

KEYSER, W. Va. — C. F. Rice, chairman of the Mineral County Red Cross Chapter and an employee of Martin's Furniture Store here, was elected Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court of Mineral County at a convention of Democratic delegates yesterday afternoon at party headquarters in the Corwin Hotel.

John Ward, Piedmont, was named chairman to preside at yesterday's meeting.

Rice was not opposed in the nomination. The names of several persons who had been mentioned as possible candidates were brought before the group, but all had indicated they were not interested and would not accept the candidacy if nominated.

Rice will be opposed in the November 2 general election by Harry Oss, a real estate dealer, who was named Republican candidate for the post left vacant by the death of Paul W. Dayton.

Several names of candidates for other posts in the county were added to the Democratic list at the convention yesterday. They are: Miss Irene Taylor, a teacher at Keyser High School, candidate for justice of the peace, New Creek District; Claude W. Funk, Fort Ashby, justice of the peace, Frankfort District; W. A. Bryant, Piedmont, constable, Piedmont District; and M. C. Welch, Fort Ashby, assessor.

here Sunday morning and must return to Baltimore after the banquet. Father Alban announced yesterday.

Other Masses at the church Sunday will be at 5:30, 7 and 9 a. m. to be followed by a mass in the parish hall at 11 a. m.

The original pageant, written and directed by the Ursuline Sisters who have conducted the parish school for the past 78 years, will honor the shepherd who has guided the faithful since the beginning of time and in that church for the past century.

Joanne Moorehead will present the prologue as the Shepherdess and will be assisted by a white-robed verse choir formed by sophomore, junior and senior students of Ursuline Academy.

The history of the church will be depicted by students who will portray pastors of the church, beginning with Rev. Anthony Urbanec, a Redemptorist, who came here in 1849, and including Father Alban, present pastor of the church.

The Ursuline Sisters, who came here in 1870, will be represented by Sisters Boniface, Margaret and Xavier, who began the work of that order here.

The first lay teachers of the parish, Miss Fuerst and Miss Loeffler, who taught here during Civil War days, will also be remembered in the pageant.

One of the scenes from the pageant presented here in 1945 depicting the first 75 years of the Ursulines here, will be included.

A feature of the pageant will be a scene showing the annual parish picnic held in Narrows Park until recent years.

B. And O. Trainmen Get Wage Increase

The annual payroll of conductors and trainmen on the Cumberland and Ohio Railroad will be increased about $209,600 as a result of a recent 10 cents an hour wage boost.

Based upon a six-day work week for the 940 men affected on the Cumberland Division, the pay increase amounts to $4.80 a week, or 80 cents extra for the eight-hour day.

Officials of the B. and O. here report there are 182 conductors; 623 trainmen and 29 switch tenders who will benefit by the pay raise.

The pay hike will cost the B. and O. about $2,500,000 annually for the entire system, including payroll taxes.

This increase, effective October 16, will apply to slightly less than 14 per cent of all employees of the company.

The Western Maryland Railway reports that approximately 300 men working out of the Cumberland headquarters of the company are affected by the pay increase.

Conductors and trainmen of the Western Maryland here will be paid an aggregate of about $74,000 yearly under the new wage hike.

Roosevelt Inspired Pass

NEW YORK — (AP) — President Theodore Roosevelt was the inspiration of the forward pass in football, reveals Sid Luckman, great quarterback of the Chicago Bears, who became famous throwing them.

Here's the story: The president became alarmed when he saw a picture of Bob Maxwell, star of the 1905 Swarthmore eleven, after Maxwell had taken a terrific beating in a game against Penn. Roosevelt promptly issued a proclamation that unless football abolished such rough play, he would take steps to abolish football.

That winter, according to Luckman's story in his new book, "Passing For Touchdowns," the rules committee adopted the forward pass to placate the President. However, it still was some time before the weapon became an integral part of the game.

The Westminster clock on the British House of Parliament is one of the largest clocks in the world. It was put into operation in 1860. We know it as "Big Ben."

Brothers Fined In Air Rifle Incident

Francis Gray, 21, 506 Linden Street, paid a fine of $10 in Police Court yesterday after he admitted discharging a BB gun within the city limits. His brother, Raymond Gray, same address, was fined $5 on a charge of interfering with the duty of Sgt. Frank A. Shober. They were booked at 3:45 p. m. Monday.

Sgt. Shober investigated when a neighbor complained that an air rifle was being shot from a porch. He placed Raymond Gray under arrest when the man allegedly became quarrelsome and declared that a warrant was needed before an arrest could be made.

Another man, L. H. McCusker, alias Jake (Bob) McCusker, 200 Laing Avenue, posted $20 bond for his appearance today in Trial Magistrate's Court on a charge of assaulting Lena Radcliff. He was taken into custody on a warrant.

Alcohol Group Hears New York Authority

Members of the Allegany County Committee on Alcoholism heard Yvelin Gardner, New York, assistant to the executive director of the National Committee for Education on Alcoholism, over the weekend.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. W. A. Gracie, 630 Washington Street, one of the committee members. Also attending was Noel Spier Cook, member of the special committee of the Legislative Council studying the possibility of state aid to chronic alcoholics.

Gardner's organization is affiliated with the Yale Plan and stresses the fact that alcoholism is public health problem No. 4.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Anthony L. Clay who was killed October 13th, 1926.

Just 22 years ago today
God called our loved one away.
The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We never thought the end so near.
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of passing without farewell.
He little thought when leaving home
That he would never return.
That he so soon in death would sleep
And leave us here to mourn.
God alone knows how much we miss him.
Never shall his memory fade.
Loving thoughts shall ever wander
To the spot where he is laid.
His Wife, Mary and Daughter, Madeline

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Floyd (Buddie) Wolfe, who departed this life eighteen years ago today,
October 13, 1930.

The years may wipe out many things,
But this they will never forget—
The memory of those happy days,
When we were all together.
Sadly missed by his Father, Brother and Sisters.

Cord of Thanks

In this manner we wish to extend our appreciation for the use of cars, floral arrangements and other expressions of sympathy shown us during our recent bereavement.

Mrs. Rachel Fields and Family.

We take this means to thank our friends and relatives for their kindness to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Nina R.
Davis, Westport. We also wish to thank Rev. O. C. Mitchell of the Presbyterian Trinity Methodist Church, who efficiently performed the services, who sent flowers and those who loaned cars for the funeral.

Porter R. Davis and Family.

Prevailing Wages To Be Paid For Flood, Dam Work

Beall Says Rates Are Predetermined

Re. J. Glenn Beall (R-Allegany) informed the News last night that rates for both the Cumberland flood control project and completion of the Savage River Dam have been predetermined and approved by the U. S. Department of Labor.

Prevailing Cumberland wages will be paid on both projects, Beall said.

He issued the statement to correct rumors that prevailing wage rates would not be paid on flood control work.

Beall said Army Engineers explained that the Labor Department must approve wage rates before government contracts can be let.

Meanwhile, Beall also stated that he will co-operate with city officials in making every effort to secure local labor for the flood control pressure conduit work, first phase in the overall flood project.

Mayor Thomas S. Post, in a letter to the contractor for the conduit work, yesterday urged the employment of local labor.

"Cumberland has a good supply of workmen, both skilled and semi-skilled, and laborers," the Mayor's letter said.

"Our community can supply the labor you will need."

Army Engineers advised the Mayor and City Council Monday through City Attorney Thomas B. Finan that notice to start construction would be given to the United Construction Company, Inc., of New York, N. Y., yesterday. The notice allows 10 days in which to get the project underway.

The New Jersey firm was the successful bidder on the four pressure conduit project with a bid of $273,914.50. The conduits will be located on Knox, Pear, Wineow and Franklin Streets.

In preliminary talks between the city and Army engineers, the advisability of using local labor was stressed. It was pointed out that while the federal government does not make contracts with a city to employ local labor some assurance was given that local wage rates will prevail.

In preliminary talks between the city and Army engineers, the advisability of using local labor was stressed. It was pointed out that while the federal government does not make contracts with a city to employ local labor some assurance was given that local wage rates will prevail.

Beall said Army Engineers explained that the Labor Department must approve wage rates before government contracts can be let.

Meanwhile, Beall also stated that he will co-operate with city officials in making every effort to secure local labor for the flood control pressure conduit work, first phase in the overall flood project.

Mayor Thomas S. Post, in a letter to the contractor for the conduit work, yesterday urged the employment of local labor.

"Cumberland has a good supply of workmen, both skilled and semi-skilled, and laborers," the Mayor's letter said.

"Our community can supply the labor you will need."

Army Engineers advised the Mayor and City Council Monday through City Attorney Thomas B. Finan that notice to start construction would be given to the United Construction Company, Inc., of New York, N. Y., yesterday. The notice allows 10 days in which to get the project underway.

The New Jersey firm was the successful bidder on the four pressure conduit project with a bid of $273,914.50. The conduits will be located on Knox, Pear, Wineow and Franklin Streets.

Congress Termed "Cross-Section" Of United States

Beall Addresses Business Women

Stating that Congress is a "cross-section of America," Rep. J. Glenn Beall said last night that enemies of this country are trying to destroy the nation by attacking our system of representative government.

Beall addressed 40 members of the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club at a dinner meeting at Central YMCA, an event in the club's observance of National Business Women's Week.

"This criticism and abuse has reached such a crescendo in America today that many of our good people are confused and misled by it to the extent that some even wonder if we should have a Congress," Beall said.

Cites Two Types Although Communists and Fascists hate each other, the speaker said, they represent the same form of government, that in which the people are servants of the state.

"There are just two kinds of government in the world, although perhaps 1,000 names have been given to those two different types at one time or another," Beall said.

One of those types is the republic, such as America, in which the people are the masters and the government is their servant.

The other type is that of present-day Russia, in which the government rules the people, Beall said.

Under a republic, the legislative, administrative and judicial powers are separated into independent groups.

"If these groups were put under one head, as the enemies of our country would like, then we would become a Communist-dictated government and the freedom and liberties of the people would depend on the will and whims of the man at the top," Beall said.

After discussing Congressional procedure in studying and acting upon bills, Beall gave brief biographies of the seven women now in Congress.

He referred to a survey which he made recently of the previous occupations of members of Congress, pointing out that many are lawyers while the remainder include ministers, doctors, college presidents, newspaper men, labor leaders, governors, judges, mayors, and one veterinarian one tailor and one grocer.

Miss Maude Bean, co-chairman of the public affairs committee, introduced Beall.

IOOF Head Asks Members To Back CARE Program

Local Encampment Honors Officials

Odd Fellows of Maryland are aiding their fellow members in Europe through CARE packages. Edward W. Hearn, Baltimore, grand patriarch of the Grand Encampment, IOOF, declared last night at a meeting of Cumberland Encampment No. 23, IOOF.

Hearn and members of his staff, who made an official visit to the Cumberland lodge, was honored at a dinner meeting in Odd Fellows Temple attended by some 72 members of Odd Fellows encampments of this area.

The dinner was served by members of Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1, Cumberland.

The Maryland IOOF, Hearn said, is participating in the care movement as a way of aiding IOOF members and their families in Europe and particularly in Austria.

Hearn, who became acquainted with the fate of Odd Fellows while serving in the Army, related first hand accounts of the persecution of churches and fraternal orders in Austria during the Nazi regime and later when the Reds took possession.

When donations for CARE packages are cleared through the Grand Encampment, he said, the IOOF will select in order names from known lists of members of the order who are in dire need.

Brief talks were also made by Robert W. Young, this city, grand master of Grand Lodge; A. Florian Wilson, this city, past grand patriarch of Maryland; Russell O. Dolly, Flintstone, grand high priest, and William P. Aronhalt, this city, chief patriarch of Cumberland encampment.

Members of Western Maryland encampments attended the dinner assisted in the conferring of the Royal Purple Degree on a class of candidates.

Average European Is Appreciative Marshall Plan, Count de Prorok Says

The average European is "most appreciative" of the morale building and rehabilitation achievements of the Marshall Plan, Count Byron de Prorok, noted world traveler and archaeologist, said last night.

Count de Prorok was guest speaker at the first fall meeting of the Cumberland National Dinner Club, held at the All Ghan Shrine Country Club.

A record attendance was reported, with 128 persons attending the meeting. Thomas Lohr Richards, president, presided. The speaker was introduced by Edgar Vandegrift, a member of the board of directors.

Emphasizing the importance of the Marshall Plan, Count de Prorok said unity of Europe depends upon its continued successful operation.

His talk was illustrated by technical films taken during his four-month tour of Austria, Germany, Switzerland and Yugoslavia this summer, as a representative of the Red Cross.

Switzerland, the speaker said, is completely mobilized and is prepared to defend itself against any eventuality.

Ismet Sanli, the only Turkish woman speaker in America this season, will be guest speaker at the November 9 meeting of the Dinner Club. She was a delegate from Turkey to the United Nations Conference and to the San Francisco Conference.

Plans were discussed last night by the Allegany County Public Health Lay Council to raise funds for the purchase of a sound-proof booth for use in making audiometric tests at local hearing clinics.

Dr. M. L. Breitstein, Baltimore specialist who conducts the clinics here, has been asked to inform the council regarding the cost of the equipment.

The sound-proof booth will be presented to the Health Department, Mrs. Evans said.

Mrs. William Mitchell, who resigned as chairman of the LaVale lay group, has been succeeded by Mrs. Arthur Christner.

Last night's program at City Hall featured an informal discussion of the mass X-ray survey to be conducted in Allegany County next month. The discussion was led by Mrs. Teresa Longwell.

At the next meeting November 9 a demonstration will be given on work of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children by Mrs. Hume O. Annan, executive secretary of the league. A similar demonstration was given last fall, and the program is being repeated by request.

Apparently resigned to the expected ruling, the Amishmen—Yoder, Mast, Menno Brennenman and Jonas Petersheim—dressed in homemade black and gray garments, had brought packed suitcases with them. They walked from the courtroom and climbed into the waiting auto of a deputy sheriff.

They pleaded guilty to the allegation of not sending their children to school but insisted they were not violating the Pennsylvania School Code. The contend school is "a waste of time for the children."

The men were released from Somerset County Jail last Friday after serving a 12-day sentence for not sending the children—four girls and a boy—to the Amish-owned and Amish-controlled school in the little community of Elk Lick.
